If the training and test times are moved forward as the candidate is able to undertake training earlier than originally expected then the balance due date will be discussed on a case-by-case basis and a new payment date agreed.

Alternatively, candidates can pay in full when booking the course.

Our courses are based on industry standard durations including practical tests. TL Training Ltd will not be held liable for any costs for extra training or retests. It is the candidate's responsibility to ensure that their driving standard is sufficient for them to pass within the timeframe allowed by the course which they have booked. It is the candidate's responsibility to ensure they provide a valid driver's licence for test and comply fully with any test centre restrictions or conditions; A full list is available from our instructors.

Candidates are responsible for taking out a relevant insurance policy which will protect them in the event that they are unable to attend training for any reason.

- Candidates must be 18 or over
- Hold a valid & up to date UK driving licence

What happens if you do not pass your test:

Whilst some providers will charge for additional testing/training at a set rate, we deal with them on a case-by-case basis. Upon an unsuccessful test attempt, our instructor will put forward their recommendations for the number of extra hours training required ahead of a retest. Even the best candidates can make mistakes due to nerves on the day so we will do our best to fit any additional training and testing around you.

Our cost's for additional training/ testing are as follows;

- £65.00 (inclusive of VAT) per hour of training
- £115.00 for a practical retest
- £40.00 for a reverse retest (if required)
